

Internship International Sales and Marketing

IntraWorlds is a leading provider of talent relationship management solutions active in Europe and North America. Together with our clients including BMW, KPMG, and Accenture, we have developed a software solution that helps employers identify, engage and win the best talent for their organizations.

This is your opportunity to become part of our dynamic and international team! We are looking for an International Sales and Marketing Intern to join our Munich office. During your three month internship you will be facing challenging tasks and gain valuable experience. You will take over a lead role in a Marketing & Sales project within a predefined target market and cooperate and engage directly with CEOs and Senior Account Executives.

Your impact:

- Developing and managing relationships within our international key accounts
- Project responsibility in order to successfully introduce key contacts to IntraWorlds
- Joining meetings with Account Executives and CEOs
- Lead generation and pre-sales activities
- Design and use of marketing messages and promotional documents
- Creating different online and offline marketing campaigns

Your profile:

- Currently enrolled student in one of the following fields: Economics, Business Studies, Communications, or similar
- Excellent (native) English skills with strong written & spoken proficiency; German is a plus but not required
- Strong proficiency with Microsoft Office applications
- Strong organizational skills and results driven mentality
- Entrepreneurial mindset and interest

If the position matches your expertise, experience and aspirations, please email your application which includes your CV, latest study results and cover letter to Katja Stemmler at jobs@intraworlds.com

We offer this internship only for enrolled students, not for students who already obtained their final diploma.

We look forward to receiving your application!
